

November

The comments in this summary relate to Target Corporation sales from continuing operations for the four week and year-to-date periods ended November 26, 2005 compared to the four-week and year-to-date periods ended November 27, 2004. These sales results are included in the table of our sales release issued on December 1, 2005.

Comparable store sales from continuing operations increased 2.6 percent in November, driven by growth in average ticket, partially offset by a slight decline in the number of transactions. Comparable store sales in the same period a year ago grew 3.2 percent.

The current month sales release quotes Bob Ulrich, chairman and CEO of Target Corporation, as saying, "Target's comparable store sales for the month of November increased in line with our revised outlook of 2 to 3 percent. Our performance strengthened as the month progressed and sales growth for the Thanksgiving week was consistent with our original expectations. Our outlook for this year's holiday season remains optimistic and we continue to expect that we will achieve profitable market share gains."

The merchandise categories with the strongest comparable store sales growth during the month included: perishables/consumables, shoes, health and beauty and household/personal/baby. The categories with the weakest sales performance for the month were decorative home, domestics, garden place and hardware.

Target's strongest markets during November were on the west coast and in the South and Southeast.

At month-end, our inventory was in good condition.

Looking forward, our plan for December 2005 reflects an increase in comparable store sales in the range of 4 to 5 percent. Comparable store sales in December a year ago increased 5.1 percent.

Forward-looking statements in this release should be read in conjunction with the cautionary statements in Exhibit (99)C to the Company's 2005 Second Quarter Form 10-Q.
